

APIARY IN HILLS

G. B. WOODBERRY TELLS OF BEEKEEPING IN VICINITY OF GLENDALE

Nestling in the heart of the foothills on Verdugo road is a picturesque bee ranch. Those who know the Woodberry property that lies just up the hill from the Kalem studio will understand that a bee ranch among the series of little hills that stretch away eastward is an ideal spot for that industry. Very few people are acquainted, however, with conditions back of the road. That is a property that is gradually coming into public perspective as a probable future addition to Glendale. Those who hold property there have visions of future development that are likely to be realized before long.

Meantime Mr. Woodberry's bees have had the hills to themselves and suck the nectar from the flowers of the old desert and of the new town gardens as they have done all along. "Thirty years ago," said Mr. Woodberry, "I started up an apiary in Glendale. At that time I had the whole stretch of San Fernando valley for my bees. There was little else but the open desert here at that time and the bees had full range of the sage brush. I started with a few colonies. A colony of bees contains any way from 30,000 to 60,000 inhabitants. There are at present about 100 colonies in my bee farm. However, I am parting with the greater part of them, selling them to Mr. Stearns, a bee expert of Pasadena, who is gradually removing them. I will, of course, retain a few colonies for my own use.

"Bee farming is sometimes a precarious matter in this country. One is likely to meet with a dry season now and then. In the days of drought one must not have to depend on bees entirely or else he will suffer disappointment. Those who are able to tide over such times, however, are able to make some profit of handling the honey-makers.

"In 1886 I had eight tons of honey from 85 colonies. That was a fine wet season. The desert was flourishing with a wealth of sage brush and other honey-producing plants. I cleared $800 from my bees that season, shipping the honey to Kansas City and receiving 5 cents a pound for it, and paying $150 for a car. The honey was shipped in large cans—two cans to a case. It was extracted. Of course there was also some small profit from the wax.

"Some of the beekeepers of the present day, I notice, state that they get 5 pounds of honey a day. That is good work and must be a record. In 1886 we had a long honey season. It lasted about three months. The usual period is from six weeks to two months.

"In Southern California, on account of the danger from drought and for other reasons, beekeeping should be profitable on a large scale, in order to compensate for the poor years. There are likely to occur at any time years when there is no possibility of getting honey. Still even for a small household there may be profit in keeping bees if they are carefully tended. Just at present the wholesaler pays the producer 6 cents a pound for honey. The purchaser naturally pays a great deal more, so that it is often found profitable to keep a few colonies of bees for private use. It is needless also to add that this is one way of being independent of the adulterations that have often been discovered in connection with commercial honey."

FLOWERS FOR THE POOR

GLENDALE GARDEN SOCIETY GOT HEARTY WELCOME IN LOS ANGELES

Glendale Garden Society covered itself with honor on Saturday when the auto parade wheeled into the Plaza in Los Angeles, laden with bouquets of flowers, for distribution among those who have no gardens of their own and seldom see a flower except in the store windows. The parade after it left the corner of Brand and Broadway, went down Central avenue to the home of Mrs. Ella Richardson, where each auto was furnished with an American flag. When the autos reached Ninth and Hill streets in Los Angeles it turned north and proceeded to First street and thence east and north to the Plaza.

All the way along Hill street the parade attracted considerable attention. At the Plaza the autos were besieged by crowds of people of all classes. Most of these people were foreigners, chiefly Mexicans. With their national love of flowers these people were delighted with the bouquets distributed among them. Old women were there, women with little children in their arms, mothers with children holding to their skirts; old men and young people of all ages. It was a motley crowd, but it was appreciative and these were the very people the society was seeking to reach.

All of these people were eager to get the bouquets. They really felt that a treasure had been bestowed on them when they felt the fragrance and sweetness of the floral gifts. Much interest seemed to be taken by numbers of people other than those for whom the flowers were intended and the enterprise of the Glendale Garden society in bringing the country atmosphere to the city was favorably commented on.

Mrs. Ella Richardson left her auto and went into the park of the Plaza where she bestowed a pink carnation on each man on the seats, pinning the flowers in their buttonholes. "In almost every case," said Mrs. Richardson, "my gift was graciously received. The poor Mexicans bowed and uttered their thanks in their own language with great courtesy. The only ungraciousness I experienced was from four Americans who gruffly told me they wanted none of my flowers. In every way this experiment was a success. It was also a great ad for Glendale, which is gradually being recognized as an enterprising, thriving and progressive city."

FOUR DROWNED IN LITTLE BEAR LAKE

TROUT FISHERS FROM LOS ANGELES AND LONG BEACH
PERISH WHEN BOAT CAPSIZES

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
SAN BERNARDINO, May 1.—Four were drowned in Little Bear lake this morning at 7-a. m. The trout fishing season opened today and scores from Los Angeles and its vicinity were at work at 6 a. m. on the streams and lakes of this region. Among others nine men started out from the shore of Little Bear lake in a small boat, meaning to make their way to a large raft moored in the center of the lake. They intended to fish from that strategic position. The boat was really overcrowded with its load of nine people and when it reached the middle of the lake capsized. Four of the occupants sank after a brief struggle. They were: Dr. C. M. Prum-pow and Benjamin M. Rapp of Long Beach and Harry Thorpe and Merton Wearne of Los Angeles.

Sheriff Moliss left at once in an automobile to get an apparatus to drag the lake for the bodies. The five other men who were in the boat managed to reach the overturned skiff and clung to the keel, almost perishing in the icy water, until a boat with a single occupant started out from the shore to their aid. Scores watched the accident from the shore but were helpless to give any assistance.

AMERICAN TROOPS TO REMAIN IN MEXICO

PRESIDENT WILSON DOES NOT INTEND TO PAY ANY AT-TENTION TO OBREGON'S REQUEST FOR WITHDRAWAL

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
WASHINGTON, May 1.—President Wilson has no intention of ordering the American troops to withdraw from Mexican territory at present. Gen. Obregon is likely to find himself helpless in face of the present impasse. The president and his military advisers are of the opinion that it would be fatal to American prestige to withdraw in the face of any kind of pressure and with the task of punishing the Villistas but half done.

VILLISTAS BURN DOWN AMERICAN COLONY

MEXICAN REBELS DESTROY MORMON SETTLEMENT OF CHUICHUPA AND ESCAPE

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
EL PASO, May 1.—Villista bandits today burned down the American Mormon colony of Chuichupa. The town was deserted some time ago by the 200 families who occupied it. They had to leave in haste with such portions of their household goods as they could carry. They fled to the frontier and got safely to American territory. Their household possessions were first looted by the Villistas and the torch was then applied to the town, which was completely destroyed.

DUBLIN UPRISING COMPLETELY COLLAPSES

SINN FEINERS LAY DOWN THEIR ARMS AND ASK FOR QUARTER—SOME BANDS STILL FIGHTING

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
DUBLIN, May 1.—Four hundred and fifty Irish insurrection-ists surrendered this morning. This makes about 1000 now in custody. The latest capture was made very cleverly and the revolutionists caught in a trap were compelled to lay down their arms. The surrender took place at the foot of Parnell's monument. There are still small parties of the revolutionists holding out in other places. Some of them escaped by way of underground passages that led from the houses in which they were entrenched to the river front. At Enniscorthy and other places small bodies hold out, but they are expected to surrender before long. The insurrection is at an end.

GERMANS DECIMATED IN VERDUN ATTACK

SERIOUS LOSSES INFLICTED ON TEUTONS WHEN THEY TRY TO STORM DEAD MAN'S HILL

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
PARIS, May 1.—After a terrific bombardment of the French positions on Dead Man's hill the Germans made another fierce attack. They advanced almost up to the French trenches in close formation and sought to overwhelm the French by sheer weight. The artillery mowed them down and the machine guns completed their discomfiture. Again and again they returned to the attack but in no case were able to get a footing in the trenches. Their losses were appalling.

GERMANY REPORTS NO CHANGE AT VERDUN

FIERCE FIGHTING STILL GOES ON AROUND AVOCOURT AND ESNEZ WITHOUT RESULT

BERLIN, May 1.—It was officially announced today that French attacks on the German positions in Avocourt and Esnez sections had been repulsed with considerable losses. The war office adds that the situation is unchanged. Attempts of the French to advance in the direction of Thiaucourt were frustrated by an unbroken curtain of fire.

GLENDALE AT FRONT

LOCAL PARENT-TEACHER FED-ERATION PROMINENT AT CONVENTION

The Glendale Parent-Teacher Federation formed one of the most important factors at the annual convention of the District Congress of Mothers held in Los Angeles Thursday and Friday of last week. Some of the most important addresses and reports featured on the program were given by Glendale women. The report of Mrs. Charles E. Hutchinson, president of the federation, was one of the most forceful and replete in activities of any of the federation reports and was received with enthusiastic applause. Mrs. Hutchinson was one of the pioneer workers in the Congress of Mothers, and has always been consistently active in its upbuilding.

Mrs. Ross Kurtz, district chairman of the department of patriotism, gave one of the most complete reports ever given upon this subject. The activities of this department have been varied during the past year, covering patriotic instruction, patriotic programs, and subjects of a kindred nature, including patriotic addresses to school children. Mrs. Kurtz was given a standing vote of thanks for the splendid work accomplished this year.

Dr. Jessie A. Russell, state chairman of Juvenile court and probation, gave a short address on the work of her department. This is a subject which is receiving marked attention from the public and close attention was given the speaker.

Glendale women were prominently featured upon committees. Mrs. Charles H. Toll being made chairman of the Resolutions committee. Mrs. E. S. McKee was made chairman of the Credentials committee. Glendale was also featured in the election of officers, Mrs. P. S. McNutt being elected parliamentarian. Other officers elected were: President, Mrs. W. A. Galentine, Redondo; vice-presidents, Mrs. Roy Bell, Hermosa Beach, Miss Clara Brown, Pomona; corresponding secretary, Mrs. N. T. Cory, Los Angeles; treasurer, Mrs. Charles L. Soyester, Compton; historian, Mrs. E. D. Taylor, Downey.

For the first time the executive board of the district arranged for a prize contest in order to increase the sales of the congress pin and also of the National Congress of Mothers magazine. Glendale was well represented in the distribution of prizes, the Doran street school, of which Mrs. A. A. Barton is president, receiving the first prize for the largest number of subscriptions to the magazine, and Miss Avis Thompson, of Colorado boulevard, and Robert Logan, of Central avenue, receiving the first prizes for the girl and boy selling the largest number of pins. The Glendale federation is the only federation in the district in which every association president has subscribed for the magazine.

Outside of Los Angeles, Glendale had the largest number of delegates of any federation in the district. Among those present were: Mmes. Charles E. Hutchinson, Charles H. Toll, George Adams, A. A. Barton, P. S. McNutt, R. W. Meeker, A. C. Anderson, Wilmot Parcher, A. M. Beaman, E. S. McKee, R. A. Puffer, A. A. Ward, M. E. Plasterer, Dr. Jessie A. Russell, Miss Eva Daniels, Mmes. James Begg, Frank Salter, Minnette Sherman, H. H. Jepson, E. W. Richardson, Ross Kurtz. Enthusiastic commendation was freely given to Glendale women and their activities. The hall and stage were profusely decorated with flowers, many of which were generously contributed by the Glendale women.

SUNDAY PICNIC

A merry crowd of picnickers from Tropic, Glendale and Los Angeles enjoyed a day's outing in Sierra Madre Canyon Sunday. They left early in the morning in Robinson Bros. truck and returned late in the evening after a day brimful of fun. Among those who made the trip were: Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Miller, Claude and Ernest Robinson, Henry Hatcher, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Milligan, Mr. and Mrs. Hartwig and daughter Helen, and Mr. and Mrs. Will Hedges, and Florence Chandler of Tropic; Mr. and Mrs. Ed Alexander of Memphis, Tenn.; Mrs. Hirschberger and daughters, Misses Doris and Mildred and Miss Marshall of Los Angeles.

STRIKE AT GOLDSTONE

MRS. R. C. NEWTON SAYS LAT-EST MINE IN BARSTOW DISTRICT IS RICH

Having just visited the new gold strike at Goldstone, Cal., I wish to tell a few of my friends about it through the medium of your paper. My friend, Mrs. Bailey, of Montana came from the north to accompany me and we made the trip in a Chandler Six driven by Claude Bailey from Beaumont, Cal. We left Glendale Monday about 10 a. m. and drove the 150 miles to Barstow, stopping for lunch on the way, and arriving at Barstow about 5 p. m., where we put up for the night, good roads all the way and the new road through the Cahon pass is splendid. I was trying to make this trip to the gold strike ahead of the rush which always follows a rich strike, and the time was well planned, for there were not so many strangers in the place, yet there was a sort of quiet expectant hush about the place like a calm before the storm, and an occasional report of another new strike in the district would cause quite a flutter of excitement.

Eastern capitalists who own controlling interests in the Big Drum and Goldstone mines, who of course were telegraphed the first news, were arriving, but the general public has heard little about it as yet. There has not been much news of Goldstone in the papers. After supper we visited the office of the Barstow Mining Bureau, Dick Mansfield manager, saw samples of the ore, the richness of which was unbelievable until we saw the mines for ourselves. The following morning we made arrangements with Mr. Mansfield (who by the way is thoroughly posted in regard to that whole mineralized section and knows the country round about thoroughly) to accompany us to the mines, which are due north of Barstow, about 33 miles by auto or 28 as the crow flies, good roads all the way, and although very early as yet to get in there we met many people coming out and going in and an occasional husband and wife with their household goods for camping and a tent tied on to their little Ford car and trekking towards the gold mines.

After leaving Barstow, to our left is a road leading to the Coolgarchie placer mine about five miles distant, where they do dry placer mining, and have taken out many thousands of dollars. This road terminates at the American Opal mines. Not far away to our right can be seen the granite peaks of the Calico range of mountains, also Paradise range nestling between which is the famous Paradise valley and the hot springs which is not more than ten miles from Goldstone.

A little over twenty miles from Barstow we come to the well-known Superior valley, dotted with many new homesteads, and here is where we encountered that wonderful dry lake, about fifteen miles long, and sun baked for so many years that it is as hard and smooth as a hardwood floor, and here is where you can revel in speed to your heart's content, with no fear of the dreaded motor cop. Our driver opened up the machine to 50 miles an hour and we were not long in eating up the two miles.

The finest sight I witnessed while on this trip was the mirage you see from this lake of a mile or more of blue rippling water, in which you can see mirrored the cactus trees and mountain peaks, an illusion so perfect that Mr. Mansfield made me believe it was really water. Bearing off to our right a few miles we come to the homestead that has a fine well and a large tank and inexhaustible supply of water, and here we took on some water, as at the present time this is where Goldstone gets its water supply, which is only three and a half miles from the camp.

In this home on the desert I saw four little girls and distributed oranges from Glendale among them and asked them where they attended school, and they said there was no school there, but next year one was going to "Watts" to attend school, and here was one person to whom "Watts" seemed as Paradise.

From this homestead we soon came to the gold district and bearing a little to the left as we enter Goldstone we first come to the Red Bridge group of mines, which takes its name from the two proprietors, Redfield and Bridgeman. This mine is opened up only sufficiently to show the ore bodies near the surface and to get samples of ore. We were introduced by Mr. Mansfield and told to help ourselves to anything we wanted, and had we been "high grades" we would not have come here. (Continued on Page 4)

GLENDALE, CALIFORNIA, MONDAY, MAY 1, 1916

CURRENT ISSUE IN MEXICO

In Mexico at the present moment the current issue is the withdrawal of the American troops. The entry of American troops into Mexico has all along been distasteful to Mexicans of all factions who are now making common cause against the invader. It is reported that all along the line from the border to the advanced posts of the American army which are nearly 500 miles in the interior the Mexicans are ambushed in every chaparral; whence they take snapshots at the passing American convoys. If they were half as daring as they were hostile it would be impossible for the American forces to receive supplies at all.

At present the American troops are supplied with one month's provisions and a plentiful supply of ammunition. They have broken up a number of Villista bands and driven Pancho Villa himself into hiding. They have shown the Mexicans on the border that the United States will not tolerate such acts as the burning of Columbus, N. M. and the murder of a number of residents and troopers. From this time forward it is certain that there will be more respect for the name of America than there ever has been on the international line. However, it is perfectly apparent that having set out to break up the Villista bands the United States troopers must not leave until this has been effected. It is probably to settle that question that Obregon and Scott, the respective representatives of Mexico and the United States are to meet in Juarez tomorrow. Gen. Obregon is backed up by 40,000 soldiers stretched in a cordon across the country from Chihuahua. This is his evidence of the good faith of Mexico in the attempt to capture Villa.

When Gen. Obregon, chief of staff of Mexico meets Gen. Scott, chief of staff of the United States, two men of experience and ripe wisdom will be working together for the best end of the unfortunate clash between the two countries. For though the countries are not actually at war the situation is generally considered hostile by the Mexicans, who will not forget the American "invasion" in any short time. Gen. Scott is a man who believes in conciliation. He has had considerable dealing with Mexicans and is able to understand the high sentiments of national honor that prevail across the border. If anyone can find a solution of the present impasse it is he.

CONDITIONS IN IRELAND

It is impossible to read the heartfelt cry of indignation that has just welled up from the heart of John Redmond, leader of the Irish Nationalists in the British house of commons, without realizing what incalculable mischief has been done to the cause of national freedom in Ireland by the present insane outburst of revolt on the part of a few misguided individuals who, stimulated by German money and aided by German weapons and ammunition, sought to take possession of the national capital of Ireland and have only succeeded in throwing back the day of Ireland's freedom.

Redmond and other unselfish Nationalists had succeeded after forty years' agitation in a constitutional manner to life their country from slavery to prosperity and freedom. They won back the possession of the land to the Irish people. They stopped the tide of emigration that had been flowing in a constant stream from the shores of the Emerald Isle to the United States. They inaugurated an era of prosperity such as the Irish had never dreamed of even in their most sanguine imaginations.

Suddenly, in the midst of all this march toward national aspirations comes the outbreak of war in Europe. Ireland having just succeeded in placing to her credit the latest liberal home rule bill, the greatest charter of freedom ever offered her since the days of Grattan, sees all this about to be cast aside and trampled under foot to gratify the narrowness of a few sectarians who, taking advantage of the almost criminal negligence of the British authorities in Ireland, who passed over unheeded, treasonable demonstrations, have now joined hands with the Germans and traitorously betrayed their own Irish countrymen. For it is not in sympathy for the English that Redmond is speaking. He is too strong a nationalist not to feel that the great wrong in this foolish outburst has been done to his own countrymen.

At the outbreak of the war Ireland took her stand on the side of freedom the principles to which she has always held. She stood for the sacred principle of the rights of small nations, the principles of nationality, liberty and democracy. All these she saw violated by the nation with whom the handful of Irish recalcitrants who are now shut up in Dublin have been negotiating and for whose loathsome mess of pottage they have been willing to sell their birthright.

Mixed up in a policy that has as its cardinal principle the righteousness of telling lies and the privilege the superior race has of falsifying truth if it so chooses this offshoot from the wholesome tree of Irish nationalism has nurtured itself into a thing hideous to humanity. No one can doubt John Redmond's Irish patriotism. It is pitiable to hear his lamentation, "In all our long and successful struggle to obtain home rule we have been thwarted and opposed by that same section that has just tried to make Ireland a catspaw of Germany. We have won home rule not through them but in spite of them. This wicked move of theirs was their last blow at home rule. It was not half as much treason to the cause of the allies as treason to the cause of home rule."

Redmond has a great deal more to say that is well said and that is better said and said with more effect by the leader of the Irish nationalists than by anyone else. It is to be hoped that his forebodings of national loss will never be fulfilled.

TRAINING FOR FORESTRY WORK

Young men might do well to examine the value of the work in the forestry department. The position of a United States forester is one that is very attractive to those who like outdoor life and

PERMITS FOR MONTH

APRIL CLOSES WITH SMALL
BUILDING VALUATION SLIGHT-
LY ADVANCE OF 1915

April, 1916, has not been a very favorable month as far as building is concerned. The number of permits is only 12 and their value is $9600. Were it not that among these is the permit for the erection of the First Church of Christ, Scientist, new ecclesiastical building, at a cost of $8000, there would be but a very poor showing for the month.

In 1915 there were in April nineteen permits and the total valuation of these was $9115. In April, 1914, there were 40 permits with a total valuation of $31,295. Still there is reason to believe that the building business is going to improve. There is inquiry for property and there is talk of more building as time goes on. Everything waits on the presidential election.

Following were the permits issued:

F. W. Sanford is erecting a garage at 117 N. Maryland at a cost of $50. He is his own architect.

W. D. Clark, of 1522 W. Seventh, is doing some demolishing and repairing at a cost of $150.

C. Farnham of 528 S. Jackson is erecting a garage at a cost of $50.

F. H. Huseman is having an addition built to 410 W. Ninth street by May brothers at a cost of $375.

C. M. Good, 875 S. Louise street, is building a garage at a cost of $50.

The First Church of Christ, Scientist, is building a very fine church building at the southeast corner of Second and Maryland at a cost of $8000. Retts & Boyd are the architects. This building was recently fully described in the columns of the News.

J. E. Aycock, 504 Chestnut St., is building an addition at a cost of $50.

P. G. Maitland is erecting a handsome garage at his home, 409 Geneva street, at a cost of $100.

T. D. Addison of 424 Belmont street is building a garage at a cost of $100.

F. Echols is having a garage built by G. W. Calkins on Orange street at a cost of 75.

George Peters is erecting an automobile oil and gasoline supply store and rest room at the corner of Central avenue and Colorado at a cost of $500.

VOTE ON TUESDAY

It is of the greatest importance that every man and woman having the right of franchise, make use of that right at Tuesday's primary election. Everybody should have a voice in naming delegates who are to represent their respective parties at the National conventions.

Tomorrow is the opening of the 1916 presidential campaign in California, so far as the people's having a right to participate in it, so be wide awake to your interests.

WOMEN AND ORNAMENT

In the court of a recent statement on the all-important question of the employment of women on the land, Lady Frances Balfour made one remark which deserves to be placed on record, if only for its unexpectedness. Lady Frances was speaking of a scheme to recruit women in a regular army of land workers. "If such a scheme were introduced," she said, "there would be no need of armlets. Women are not so fond of decorations as men."

Be watchful. Be humble. Be grateful.—Lindley Murray.

who value the lessons of woodcraft. It is always a good thing to work for Uncle Sam. He is a fair paymaster; his pay at least is always certain, and there is usually a pension for faithful service.

Woodsmen are having unusual advantages offered them these days. They can go to college when winter closes down operations in the forests. Courses in forestry principles and forestry methods will be given in the University of California's summer session, from June 26 to August 5. That, however, is when the woodmen are busiest; so for twelve weeks in winter time every year hereafter, during January, February and March, a short course in forestry will be given.

This course is open to woodmen whether in the service of lumber companies or in the United States Forest service. It teaches them how to plan better systems of fire protection; how to build better trails or make better maps, and how to keep ahead of the latest developments in methods of logging timber estimating. There will be work in forest management and instruction in elementary silviculture. Officials of the United States Forest service will give special lectures covering various phases of the work of the national forests. So many different courses will be offered that the individual woodman will find opportunity to pick those courses best suited to his own individual needs and will find it profitable to come for more than one short course.

The twelve-weeks' course will be given at a time when it is easy for the woodsmen to come, for most of the chief logging regions of California are snowbound at that season and little work in the woods is possible. The course will be particularly valuable to superintendents, foremen, rangers, and men who wish to qualify themselves for advancement in such occupations.

It would be well also for those who desire to enter the service to take this course. They would find in it a widening of their mental horizon and would find also that it would introduce them to a life in which they would enjoy every moment and would add many a long year to their length of days. In the forest and on the mountain is a joy, a peace and a health that are to be found only in that or some similar open air life.

FOOTHILLS CLUB

A most pleasant and enjoyable May festival was given at the regular meeting of the Foothills club, which met at the home of Mrs. Charles Richter, Mountain View and Brand boulevard, Friday afternoon. Mrs. Richter was assisted in receiving and entertaining by Mrs. Alfred Priest. The palatial Richter home was beautifully decorated with Watsonia blossoms, honeysuckles, Mamon Cochet roses and Gen. McArthur roses.

This entertainment took the form of a May festival. Mrs. R. Bourne gave a most pleasing selection of old tunes, such as "Believe Me If All Those Endearing Young Charms," and "The Mocking Bird," whistling them in a delightful manner and accompanying herself on the piano. Mrs. H. R. Boyer gave Suschutt's "Etude Mignon" and Grieg's "Butterfly," in a brilliant manner on the piano. Miss Marie Bardill, a pianist of considerable attainments, played the Sonata in D Major, by Haydn, and Karavasan's "Spirit of the Waltz" and "The Brook." Delicious refreshments were served.

The special guests were: Mrs. Focha, Mrs. R. Bourne and Mrs. H. R. Boyer. Mrs. E. Wyman was elected vice-president of the club. The next meeting and entertainment will be at the home of Mrs. Alfred Priest, N. Central avenue, near Mountain View.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Rev. W. E. Blackstone preached at this church Sunday morning, a sermon of unusual interest, made so by the fact that Mr. Blackstone has visited many parts of the earth and had first-hand information in regard to his subject, and further because he is a Bible student of far more than usual knowledge of the Book that he loves. The subject was "The War in the Light of Prophecy," and it was handled without reference to any one special text, but with every point clearly made by reference to the words of Holy Writ.

Mr. Blackstone was in Belgium a short time before the great war broke out and spoke touchingly of the terrible outrages inflicted upon that little nation, which he described as the most thickly populated country of Europe and the most peaceful. He spoke of the sad condition of the Jews in Europe, of whom there are half a million in the various armies, forced to fight one another. The world just now is certainly a "dark place," but there is light promised in Isaiah 42:9 and in Hosea 3:4, as well as in 2d Peter 1:19.

It is a notable thing in regard to the Christian's Bible that it is a book of prophecies, many of which have been fulfilled and indicate beyond a doubt that all will be fulfilled in the course of not a very long time. The speaker quoted texts of prophecy and fulfillment showing that in regard to the one great event of the Crucifixion alone, twenty-five of the prophecies had been fulfilled. In Daniel it is promised that the Book shall be "Shut up" and in Jeremiah the end of all things is foretold. The speaker expressed the belief that the nations now at war will be overthrown and that the Jews will be re-established as a nation.

MARVELS OF SHIP CONSTRUCTION

Each man-of-war is built upon paper before a single plate of steel is forged. Not only are length and breadth of a ship decided upon, but the naval constructor can tell to an ounce how much water she will displace when her armor and guns are mounted upon her, how many times her propellers will revolve in a minute with a given pressure of steam, and how many tons of coal an hour must be consumed to attain a certain rate of speed.

GLENDALE FOOTHILLS

Mrs. Arthur Fancher, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Mitchell, of Kenneth road, who has been a guest at the home of her parents during the past two weeks, along with her little daughter Annie, returned Saturday to her own home in Pittsburg, Cal., about thirty miles north of San Francisco.

Mr. George Alexander Mitchell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Mitchell, of Kenneth road, accompanied by Mrs. Mitchell, was the guest of his parents Saturday and Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell returned to their home in Los Angeles Sunday night.

Miss Rae Davis of Orange Grove avenue was the guest of Miss Barbara Mitchell, 2001 Kenneth road, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Rierbower of 922 Fairview avenue left Monday for San Gabriel canyon by auto. They will camp there for two weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Hewitt, 728 N. Louise street, were members of a large auto party that motored to Long Beach Sunday and took dinner at the Virginia hotel. Mr. Hewitt says that the beach was crowded and that thousands of visitors were enjoying the pleasures of the seaside.

DOROTHY BONNELL

I have been approached by many to make a public statement regarding the condition of Dorothy Bonnell, as many misleading statements are in circulation. The physician in charge, has within the past three days, been obliged to obtain the services of a special nurse to take care of the little patient. Her mental condition is such that an ordinarily trained nurse could not cope with the situation. While physically she is improving daily, and can now sit up, in a reclining position, for a short time, yet it takes a woman of strong will power to control the child. The doctor believes that in about four weeks she will be walking around, but that her mental condition will not be fully restored for many weeks longer. To those who have known Dorothy in her activities, it is the most pathetic sight to see her drawn, distressed face. Having personally interviewed the child within the past few days, I am in a position to state that it will be many months before the child will be able to resume work or study of any kind. These statements are made with the full approbation of the physician in charge.

WOOLWINE'S RECORD AS DISTRICT ATTORNEY

At all times I have endeavored to enforce the laws with conservatism and to allow the people within the jurisdiction every liberty consistent with their welfare and safety. And, having this principle always in mind, I have to the utmost attempted to avoid all groundless prosecutions and to see to it that no man is put upon his trial unless there is real and substantial guilt disclosed.

And to this end early in my administration I established a complaint department, where wherever it is possible we hear both sides of a case so as to avoid the possibility of unfounded prosecution through spite and the gratification of personal malice. In this way hundreds of citizens have been saved the humiliation of having criminal charges lodged against them where the facts as disclosed did not justify the filing of a complaint.

In cases of personal violence, such as highway robbery and murder committed in the perpetration of crimes of that character, it has been the policy of the office to prosecute with promptness and vigor and to insist upon the extreme penalty. It is not consistent with the safety of the people to temporize for a moment with persons found guilty of atrocious deeds that affect the security of the homes and lives of our citizens. And yet unless the laws are enforced with wisdom and conservatism a prosecutor may make life unendurable for the citizens within his jurisdiction. The district attorney is vested with a very large discretion as to whether or not a prosecution should be initiated in any particular case and sometimes it happens that there is a technical violation of law where a prosecution would in reality work an injustice out of all proportion to the offense charged. With this in mind, a prosecutor must in very large measure act in a judicial capacity and see to it that substantial justice is done in each and every case.

There is one cardinal principle that should be followed by every officer and that is, after thorough investigation he should make up his mind as to what is the right and just course to pursue and then stand by his conclusions at every personal peril to himself and in spite of every pressure of every nature that may be brought to bear upon him.

A peculiar situation that sometimes confronts a district attorney is in cases where he is called upon to enforce what might be called unpopular laws. If the law is deemed by the people not to be a just and proper statute, appeal should be made to the legislature for its repeal, and blame should not be attached to the district attorney who has sworn on his oath to enforce all the laws.

Of late numerous inquiries have been made as to whether or not it is my intention to become a candidate for re-election to the office of district attorney.

It appearing that in the minds of a great many people there is a misapprehension as to the length of the term for which I was elected, and that many are not informed that by the provisions of the charter the present term was changed to two years, whereas previously it had been four years, and that all succeeding terms, under the provisions of the charter, will be four years, it seems necessary and proper at this time to take this means of calling attention to the fact that my present tenure of office will come to an end next December, and that I am a candidate for re-election.

I wish to take this opportunity of expressing my hearty thanks for the loyal support accorded me during my brief administration of the office by the citizens of this county, and to say that I shall be grateful for such support for re-election as they shall feel justified in giving me.

THOMAS LEE WOOLWINE.

EDITOR NEWS:

Is it allowable to print a strictly "Partisan" communication in the "News"?

The people at large beginning to suffer from a reaction after a surplus of political cure-alls, do not seem to care to exert themselves to secure information as to the merits of the primary election to be held tomorrow. May I be allowed to elucidate? The so-called "United Republican" ticket, comprising the first 26 names on the Republican list of candidates for delegates to the National convention is composed largely of Progressives, selected by a conference of a private nature, as it was an invitation affair and no notice of it was given in the newspapers until the evening preceding the day on which the conference met. About fifty people assembled, two or three straight Republicans present asked the conference to defer action until such time as a representative convention could be held. This request was ignored and the "slate" previously prepared was put through without delay, the names appearing in the papers of same date.

The State Central Committee then issued a regular call for a convention of duly elected county committee-men and this convention was held on March 4th last, attended by five hundred men and women, who in addition held over 300 proxies. The nominating committee was in session from 4 to 11 p. m. and the names of the men and women selected appear as the last 26 on the Republican ballot. The mere manner of the selection of these two lists should in itself be sufficient to enable the intelligent voter to determine which group of candidates is most worthy of his support.

The Progressive party of California has a straight Progressive ticket in the field represented on the ballot at tomorrow's election. This is the ticket that Progressives should vote if they desire to be consistent. In the event of the first twenty-six names on the Republican ticket being elected, this would give the Progressives a double ticket in Chicago, a smart political advantage quite in keeping with the crooked politics of the managers of that party in disfranchising Republicans at the last presidential election and with the utter immorality of their advice to voters at the present time, to ask for a Republican ticket and vote it regardless of how they have registered; and consistently in line further with their action four years ago when every Progressive candidate for office, in promising as required by law to do, to support the Republican ticket, had to perjure himself to get into the running.

—J. C. SHERER.

FACTS ABOUT COSSACKS

The word Cossack is derived from a Turkish word meaning adventurer, and is typical of these roving horsemen.

The Cossack population amounts to roughly 2,500,000 men and women, and they, collectively, own some 146,500,000 acres of Russian territory. Their living is chiefly obtained by farming and raising cattle and horses. The Cossacks enjoy certain privileges from the government of Russia, in return for which they give military service—a form of conscription. The young Cossack spends the three years of his life between 18 and 21 in military training and the next 12 years in active service and finally the following five years in the national reserve.—Detroit, Free Press.

NOTICE TO Progressives and "Not Stated" Voters

It is the desire of Progressives, the majority of Republicans and Independents alike, that the Republican convention nominate a candidate for president acceptable to all forward-looking citizens, that the Republican party nationally may again become a party of progress and victory.

Therefore do what you can to elect the first 26 Republican candidates.

REGARDLESS OF HOW YOU MAY BE REGISTERED you may ask for and receive a Republican ballot May 2. Vote for the FIRST 26 NAMES on the ballot, beginning with Robert N. Bulla and ending with D. C. Collier.

Vote for these 26 candidates AND NO OTHERS if you seek the nomination of a man of the type of Roosevelt, Hughes or Cummins. These 26 candidates stand for Unity and Harmony in the party; for Progress, Protection, Peace and Preparedness adequate for Defense as National Policies.

A vote for any others is a vote for the Otis-Fredrick standpat, reactionary idea.

away empty handed. We gathered all we wished and I picked a rock about as large as my fist which Mr. Pullman, a miner, crushed in the mortar and panned for me, giving me the freed gold, which not having a bottle to put it in I lost in my baggage.

This one prospect alone would convince the most skeptical that the Goldstone strike is no pipe dream, and Mr. Redfield has many stories he can tell you of the generous little offers he has had to pick ore.

One man offered him a new Ford and $500 in cash if he would let him pick up a flour sack of ore of his own choosing. I will not pretend to say how rich it assays for you would not believe it, but the small chunk I had washed would assay $1000 to the ton, and they have had ore from the new strike that went as high as $40,000. Farther on toward the east nearly a mile is the Goldstone group, where they had just dynamited a large shot and we reached it soon after the smoke had cleared away.

This was where they had the new strike the night before of very rich ore. We had samples given us here and then we visited various claims which have not been opened up at all.

I witnessed one deal while at Goldstone of the sale of a group of claims, the first resale on the ground I think, and supposedly a very valuable deal. They are sinking a deep well on the townsite, which is staked off but not yet laid out, but I understand they are now working on it and will soon have the plat ready, and I am trying to get the privilege. Claims are staked for ten miles in every direction, even to the barren Malapai Hills where gold was never thought of, but they think if it is not there it may grow.

We ate our own lunch, although we were invited to dine with the miners, and though we intended to start for home about noon we spent the day at Goldstone and then did not see half we wanted to and did not have the pleasure of visiting the old original Big Drum mine, which is already a good mine.

The Big Drum and the Goldstone are owned principally by eastern capitalists and the Redbridge and others by western men and local people. Want of time forbids me going into details of this place, but I believe it is going to be a very rich camp, every indication points in that direction. We returned to Barstow for the night and home the next day, and now all my energies are being bent to getting back again and into business of some kind, as next best to staking a claim is the business that follows a rush to the mines. I will be pleased to answer any inquiries in regard to the mines that I am capable of doing as regards the road there or the location of the mine. I have samples of the ore and will leave some in the editor's office.

ST. MARK'S EPISCOPAL CHURCH

There were an unusually large number of communicants present at the early Communion service Sunday morning. The beautiful Easter music was repeated by the robed choir at the forenoon service. Just before the sermon the choir preceded the rector to the baptismal font, where the impressive baptismal service was held. The sermon by Dr. Mills was "The Appearances of Jesus" after His resurrection, and what they were for and what they teach us. It was very instructive and helpful.

On Saturday the Woman's Auxiliary will meet at the home of its president, Mrs. W. S. Porter, 823 N. Brand boulevard, at 2:30 p. m. On Wednesday, May 3rd, there will be a parish meeting in the Guild Hall of the church at 8 p. m., for the election of the Vestry for the coming year, and the election of delegates to the annual convention of the diocese, which meets in the Pro-Cathedral May 17, 1916.

EXPLANATION

The committee in charge of the Dorothy Bonnell Benefit wish to make public to the good citizens of Glendale who contributed so generously to the fund, the actual existing conditions in regard to the Bonnell family.

The report circulated leads one to believe the father is in affluent circumstances, while such is far from being the case. Since the accident Mr. Bonnell has had but a few days work, and before that, had been without employment for many weeks.

The family wish it known, that without the financial assistance rendered them it would have been impossible to have employed the services of a trained nurse.

If there is any doubt in the minds of the public regarding the absolute necessity for aid in this particular case, we refer them to the family and to the physician in charge. The names and addresses will be gladly furnished by the following ladies, members of the Benefit Fund entertainment:

Mrs. C. W. Houston.
Mrs. V. Price Brown.
Mrs. Opal Greenwalt.
Mrs. C. E. Hutchinson.
Mrs. Ralph L. Hinckley.
Mrs. G. D. Roach.
Mrs. R. E. Chase.

FRIEND VOTER:

You must know that California needs the aid of the Republican Party in the protection and promotion of her principal industries,

—AND—

You must know that the most important thing for California to do this year is to get back into the Republican column,

—AND—

You must know that California can't line up with other Republican States by electing anything but a delegation of real Republicans to the Republican Convention.

You must know that the last twenty-six names on the ballot are Republicans, through and through. They were regularly and carefully selected by the Republican State and County Central Committees of California in convention assembled.

You must know the standing as good citizens and loyal Californians of such women as Mrs. Olive C. Cole and Mrs. Abbie Krebs and such men as Walter Bordwell, Francis V. Keesling, William C. Mushet, John G. Mott, E. W. Britt and Charles C. Chapman. The rest of the delegation are the same kind of people—selected and supported on the basis of

NO SLATE (Earl or otherwise)
NO TRICKERY
NO FALSE COLORS AND NO PREFERENCE.

Elect only Republicans to the Republican Convention—the last twenty-six names on the ballot, beginning with Walter Bordwell.

This year, for the good of California—it isn't the man—it's the party.

COPPER DISHCLOTH

Among the cleaning agents there are two recent additions to the list that are well worth while. One is the copper wire dishcloth, which comes in three sizes, for the cleaning of pots and pans and is much more effective than the chain cloths, as it does not chip or crack the enamel. The other is steel wool; this comes in a roll, and a little bit pulled off, which has the feeling of a bunch of horsehair and looks not unlike it, will clean enamel ware perfectly simply by rubbing it over the surface. It may also be used for brasses and glassware. Use with it a non-alkali soap, if any; and always rinse the article and polish with a dry cloth after it is cleaned.
